

ECONOMIC CRISIS MIGHT BRING BACK A TOTALITARIAN REGIME

The main cause of the Italian economic crisis is the public debt.

The increment of taxes is causing discontent and disappointment towards politicians

The economic crisis gets the population to carry out protests against politicians and the European Commission

The unemployment and the lack of attention towards some areas of the country triggers crime

The loss of trust towards the government is causing abstentionism

All these phenomena generate weakness in the population and the government, which calls for a need for someone who can take the Country out of the crisis

As a result, the opportunity for a single man or a single party to gain all the power is easier and easier